And to our many wonderful friends, we wish all the other blessings of the holiday season . . . the happiness of loved ones gathered together, the warmth of old friends' greetings, the pleasure of gifts piled beneath the tree, and the rejoicing of welcoming the Christ Child into your hearts on Christmas Eve . . . these are the special joys that we hope will come your way.

clothes we wear, in many aspects of our modern life.

At Christmastime we are engulfed with the tides of nostalgia. We tend to go back in spirit to our old, childhood memories - the neighborhood children, the beloved postman who brought us gifts - our little world when we thought we were the center of the Universe, and that we ourselves were immortal.

It was a time of slower pace, when we seemed to see, hear and savor more . the ordinary things such as the squeak of the snow from our various rounds, under our boots, the frosty feel of a snowflake on our cheek - the tingle as our ears burned in the wintry

This is a year for nostal-gia, in the drama, in the baked the cookies and foolishly set them aside to cool, not beyond our childish reach. We remember the great Bird and its crusty brown goodness, and the crunchy, tart whole cranberry sauce accompanying.

And caroling! We looked forward to it, to gathering with friends and caroling on street-corners as the lamps overhead flickered and lighted up each rosy face. How proud we were, to "sing in parts," to give each jolly song, each hymn its special best.

And when we came in we remember the all-encompassing warmth as we stood over the floor grate! The heat rushed through our corduroys and serge garments and our boots. .

These are the senses of home, the wondrously comforting "little" things that meant Christmas to many of us, many years ago. We return to them, nostalgiccally, in 1971.

the beginnings of Christmas glowed in Festival of Lights

The roots of Christmas as it is observed in Christian countries go deeply into the folklore of the Druids, Scandinavians, Romans, Egyptians, and Jews.

Celebrations by all these groups took place at a time of year when "the days begin to lengthen and the cold begins to strengthen." or when the earth began to waken under the kiss of light, when new hopes rose in frozen hearts."

To the Jews this period was the Festival of Lights or Dedication, called Hanukkah or Chanukah.

Their history records that in 165 B.C. a Maccabeean army vanquished an army of Syrians, Judas Maccabeus entered Jerusalem with his forces and found it a place of desolation, the temple destroyed. He began the work of purification and on the 25th day of Kislev it was finished and a sacred light was lighted.

The sacred oil had been almost exhausted but a jar was found which they judged would burn for one day. Miraculously it lasted days! Therefore the Jews decree each year that the 8 days previous to December 25 be celebrated.

The first night two tapers are lighted; one is the torch. The second night a third candle is added and so on for each night until the eighth day. Thus a true Hanukkah candelabrum has

In a letter to the canneil signed by Michael D. Hass, Youth Court referee and John Chevis, Youth Court counselor, "growing problems with juvenile delinquency in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County" were given Commission Chairman Paul Vegas made the recommendation to put off making a decision in the hopes that representatives of the Institute could work out a solution with those who are opposed to TCTI in its present location at 119 and 121 Citizen St. and 606 Hancock St.

Before making the decision, Commission heard arguments from both supporters and opponents of the Institute.

John Landon, chairman of the board of TCTI, explained that the Institute was a nonprofit organization engaged in religious and educational activities. He said the purposes of the organization were: to hold Bible study classes, provide to TCTI staff and other interested church groups and to take foster children into private homes and raise them in a Christian atmosphere. Landon further pointed out that the present buildings on Citizen St. and Hancock St. were "only a steppingstone to something larger". He later emphasized, however, that there were no plans for im- the fear that the Institut mediate expansion and no plans to expand at the present locations. Joe Benvenutti, a Bay St. Louis attorney representing several of the opponents, told the Commission that an implication had been made that people who objected to the Institute were against Christianity, "These people are Christian people, church people," Benyenutti sald, and they are worried about the infringement on their rights, their environmental rights". He also informed the Commission that if they were to allow this change, it would be "spot zoning which is illegal" Wilson Webre, a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission, asked that both sides give the situation more time before a decision is rendered. "Particularly at this time of the year - a time to be jolly - we need more time to resolve this matter."

Another Commission member, H.J. Marenzo, said by fait that the whole matter should have been milested by the city council. They had the question is too technical, too legal and that the city administration has shirked its duty. Both sides have presented good arguments and I don't see how we can make a decision," Marengo commented.

A stipulation was also made in the motion that the Institute is not to expand during this period and that all The manual of the matter was carried unanimously.

Commission members present at the hearing were Tate, Marengo, Dr. Michael Smith, Webre, Vegas and Roger Davis. Commission member Garland Belote did not attend the hearing.

United Gas Refund

By order of the Mississippi Public Service Commission, United Gas, Inc. soon will be mailing refund checks to all of the company's customers in Mississippi.

The refund, in the amount of approximately $1 million, was made possible by a refund to United from its wholesale suppliers of natural gas, which reflects a portion of increases in the cost of gas paid by United to its suppliers during recent periods. Increases in wholesale costs have in most instances been passed on by United to its customers at the time the increases took effect. However, the Federal Power Commission did not approve the full amount of the increases in the wholesale price of gas, hence the refund to United

The amount to be refunded each customer will vary, depending on the volume of gas used by the customer during the past twelve months.

United expects to begin mailing the refund checks during the first week of January.

People Respond To Doll, Toy Appeal

Managers of local chain stores, answering the appeal with donated merchandise, food and fresh fruit, made possible 30 Christmas dinner baskets each containing a turkey purchased with cash donations. Students at St. Rose De Lima took up a collection and Bay Senior High students held a class contest to see which could collect the most toys. OPEN ALL DAY Brother Turns Everyday Items Into Beautiful Decorations

Did you ever see a hanging, mobile Christmas tree, made out of plastic cups? Used plastic cups, at that.
As a matter of fact, when you're drinking coffee out of a styrofoam cup, did you realize that it could become a dove in flight, or a star, a flower or a big snowflake?

There is such a Christmas tree in a classroom at St. Stanislaus School and it is probably the most unusual and beautiful tree one can find. Plastic drink cups are hung upside down at intervals on strings attached to the ceiling, interspersed with colored plastic cup lids (also discarded) and tree lights. Throughout the school,

Another gift idea came from old, discarded text or prayer books which Br. Timothy laid open and painted with decoupage lacquer. Pasta alphabet soup letters arranged on the open pages spelled out an appropriate inscription, were lacquered then rubbed with gold or silver antiquing finish.

Since members of your staff are obviously sympathetic to the institute it seems necessary for me to try and give the other side of the story as completely as you have reported the institute's side. As one of the co-authors and original signers of the petition I believe I qualify as a spokesman for the now more than forty homeowners in the immediate neighborhood who have signed the petition.

To set the record straight. we certainly do not object to the goals of the institute. We all agree it is a good thing to try and help underprivileged teenagers who may have been in trouble before.

We do object to the attempt made at disguising the institute as a church or school. Indeed, the institute has now appealed to the zoning board to approve its presence as a fortunately, we seem to be church and private school, perilously at the end of that church and private school, which is allowable in a R-1 zoned residential neighburhood on appeal only. It is our contention that the spirit of the law intended to allow private schools for city residents, not dormitory type schools which could pack 70 to 300 new "residents" into a previously quiet neighborhood. Indeed. 70 people have already been quartered and fed by the institute (see the Echo, page 8-Section A, August 24, 1972). An article in the Echo on October 5th (Page 2-Section A) revealed "future plans for expansion." Indeed an attempt to purchase an ad-

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to your editorial of November 23, 1972 in regard to the Trinity Christian Institute. While I can appreciate the right of a free press to make an editorial opinion I would hope you will also be fair and allow a full reply to clear up some of the points glossed over in your editorial.

You implied that the group which came to Bay St. Louis to form the institute were like "modern Pilgrims". Then you made some unfavorable comments about the property owners of the area who only sought to half the infringement of their property rights by the institute's violation of zoning laws.

Since members of your staff are obviously sympathetic to the institute it seems necessary for me to try and give the other side of the story as completely as you have reported the institute's side. As one of the co-authors and original signers of the petition I believe I qualify as a spokesman for the now more than forty homeowners in the immediate neighborhood who have signed the petition.

To set the record straight, we certainly do not object to the goals of the institute. We all agree it is a good thing to try and help underprivileged teenagers who may have been in trouble before.

We do object to the attempt made at disguising the institute as a church or school. Indeed, the institute has now appealed to the zoning board hundred years". Unto approve its presence as a fortunately, we seem to be church and private school, perilously at the end of that which is allowable in a R-I hundred years. zoned residential neighborhood on appeal only. The area in question is zoned R-1, allowing only single family dwellings and "public" schools and libraries. Private schools and churches are allowed if successfully appealed. It is our contention that the spirit of the law intended to allow private schools for city residents, not dormitory type schools which could pack 70 to 300 new "residents" into a previously quiet neighborhood. Indeed. 70 people have already been quartered and fed by the institute (see the Echo, page 8-Section A, August 24, 1972). An article in the Echo on October 5th (Page 2-Section A) revealed "future plans for expansion." Indeed an attempt to purchase an adjoining house was made recently and rejected on principle by the owner. Advertising has been placed in newspapers to bring in still

If it can happen to our quiet neighborhood it can happen anywhere. We urgently request protection of our laws and rights before the sanctity, the future development and the property values of our residential neighborhood are completely destroyed.

As for your editorial's final remark that "we should all be thankful that they (the Pilgrims) landed on Plymouth Rock, instead of Bay St. Louis" because we are less polite than the Indians...you should have noted that perhaps we learned a lesson of history considering what happened to those Indians...not to mention what happened to descendents of the Pilgrims you think so highly of who voted for George McGovern last month.

In fairness to all the property owners of Bay St. Louis, I sincerely hope you will publish this entire letter as it may be the only hope of getting at the whole of both sides of the story of what's really happening at 119 Citizen

State Forester Bill Gaddis has announced the beginning of a State Forestry Commission search to find and document the largest trees of the many different species growing in Mississippi.

Anyone may nominate a Mississippi Champion Big Tree. Official measurement, however, must be done by a professional forester using guidelines established by the American Forestry Association, forms and Entry measurement guidelines are available at Forestry Commission offices located across the state. Entry forms should be forwarded to the State Forester through the local County Forester's office.

Mississippi already has five trees certified as National Champion Big Trees. They are: Nuttal Oak, Overcup Oak, Catalpa, Shumard Oak and Duran Oak. Measurements required on nominated trees include circumference at a point 41/2 feet above the tree base (to nearest inch) total height to the nearest foot, and crown spread (to the nearest foot.) The Forestry Commission will publish a periodic list of certified Mississippi Champions after a sufficient number of trees have been nominated and certified. Got a huge tree in your absorbed, leaving no after-effects, since it does not extend into the skull or involve the brain in any way. You might have noticed that most newborn babies are born with a peculiar shaped head, which will usually re-turn to normal shape in one to three weeks, or sometimes longer. The reason for an elongated or irregular shaped head is "Molding" which also takes place during the birth baby.

With summer over, I dread losing the tan I've worked so hard to get. I've purchased a sunlamp on the recommendation of a friend and wondered what the benefits are? Will it really help me keep my tan?

There are no physical bene-fits derived from a sunlamp, however, using one to keep or produce a fan can give a person a sense of improved health merely because of the sun-tanned skin. Sunlamps can be TO TO THE TO THE TO THE TOTAL TO THE TENT OF THE TOTAL TO THE TOTAL TH It's recommended that you always wear goggles to cover your eyes, never look directly into the light, and only ex-pose your skin to the lamp for 3 minutes at a time. It's also a good idea to turn your face constantly when using the lamp.

Regular use of the sunlamp will keep your tan longer, however, you will notice that a tan, whether acquired by the sun or by sunlamp, will fade if not attended to almost daily. Also the tan you get from a sunlamp tends to have an artificial look.

Red Beans And Rice

If you have been listening to the Boli Ruby Show mornings on WWL radio for the past two weeks, you are familiar with an outstanding parody of "The Twelve Days of Christmas".

Not to be outdone, and for the benefit of local people who have a hard time identifying with "a partridge in a pear tree", we have come up with one of our own.

We suggest that you sing it either at a Christmas party or a public meeting, but always in the presence of at least one elected official. Here goes:

On the first day of Christmas, my true love gave to me-

A PAVED BEACH ROAD, NORTH AND SOUTH

On the second day of Christmas, my true love gave to

TWO OLD GARBAGE TRUCKS . (and a paved Beach Road, north and south)

On the third day of Christmas, my true love gave to

THREE NEW OFFICIALS (two old garbage trucks and a paved Beach Road, north and south)

On the fourth day of Christmas, my true love gave to

FOUR SEWERAGE TREATMENT PLANTS (three new officials, two old garbage trucks and s paved Beach Road, north and south)

On the fifth day of Christmas, my true love gave to me-

FIVE AGREEABLE MEN (four sewerage treatment plants, three new officials, two old garbage trucks and a paved Beach Road, north

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

Cobbler Good for Autumn

It is our great good fortune that some of the best of summer's fruits and berries are preserved for us by freezing, drying and canning. When making cobblers and ples from canned fruits, it is wise to use juice as well as fruit, for some of the richness of the fruit flavor is preserved in the juice. Sweeten the juice of water packed fruit to taste, All that need be done to make the fruit base of a cobbler or the filling of a pie is to thicken the syrup appropriately with corn starch.

Let's get his number!

This man, driver's license #425-96-1362, is loose on our streets and highways right now. In two years he has been convicted of fourteen traffic violations, including reckless driving, drunk driving, speeding, leaving the scene of an accident, and others. Are we going to let him kill someone or himself before we get his number and get him off our streets?

The files of Mississippi's Highway Safety Patrol are full of the records of drivers with continuous violations like #425-96-1362. Why? Because we do not have laws strong enough to do anything about it. Many states have strong habitual offender laws and others are moving ahead with similar legislation. Mississippi was one of the last states to pass a drunk driver law. Let's not be one of the last to have a habitual offender law.

Habitual offender legislation has been prefiled in the 1973 Mississippi Legislature. If passed, it will help rid us of the dangerous, drunk, and unqualified drivers who are a threat to our very lives.

You can do something about this menace. Last year 3,500 Mississippians answered our appeal and urged the Legislature to take action. Unfortunately, the bill never reached the floor. This year, we can make it a different story. Insist that your Legislators pass a habitual offender law that has enough teeth in it to get these bad drivers off our roads for good. After all, it's your life that's at stake.

Sister Patricia, principal of OLG explains how it works: "When a teacher becomes aware that a student is having a problem, she sends the student to Mrs. Rosato who finds out exactly where the problem lies and what can be done to correct it. This is not a center for children with learning disabilities. . .you might call it more of a teaching aid."

The Center deals only with Wyatt whose father recently those students having difficulty with mathematics or Joyce Depreo is presently in reading. Let's get his number!

This man, driver's license #425-96-1362, is loose on our streets and highways right now. In two years he has been convicted of fourteen traffic violations, including reckless driving, drunk driving, speeding, leaving the scene of an accident, and others. Are we going to let him kill someone or himself before we get his number and get him off our streets?

The files of Mississippi's Highway Safety Patrol are full of the records of drivers with continuous violations like #425-96-1362. Why? Because we do not have laws strong enough to do anything about it.

Many states have strong habitual offender laws and others are moving ahead with similar legislation. Mississippi was one of the last states to pass a drunk driver law. Let's not be one of the last to have a habitual offender law.

Habitual offender legislation has been prefiled in the 1973 Mississippi Legislature. If passed, it will help rid us of the dangerous, drunk, and unqualified drivers who are a threat to our very lives.

You can do something about this menace. Last year 3,500 Mississippians answered our appeal and urged the Legislature to take action. Unfortunately, the bill never reached the floor. This year, we can make it a different story. Insist that your Legislators pass a habitual offender law that has enough teeth in it to get these bad drivers off our roads for good. After all, it's your life that's at stake.
